ABOUT

Initially, I became a driver for BB's Trucking operating a dump truck in the Chicago land area. It was during this time that I realize my potential to grow in the industry. The reason was simple, I was very proud of my work and knew that the passion and quality I brought to my job could become more than just that, perhaps even a business. I slowly learned about management once I purchased my own vehicle and had to deal with IFTA filings, registrations, permits, etc. By the time I started dispatching, I had already help most of the other drivers and gather enough confidence to start my own business. I tell this story to other drivers and try to cement in them the importance in quality. This means having a safety first mentality and paying attention to the details of the job. As of today I am a proud owner and hope to continue growing my business.
